Greenwich unveils new royal crest to mark celebration year

Royal seal of approval

IT'S going to be a massive 12 months for Greenwich.

2012 sees the Olympic and Paralympic Games come to the borough and on February 3, Greenwich becomes a ROYAL BOROUGH.

Here's a first glimpse at Greenwich's new royal crest with a guide to the different elements which make up the coat of arms.

1 THE TUDOR ROSE represents the Royal Borough's long associations with royalty - special dispensation has been granted for its use. Its combination with the anchor alludes to the significant role in royal shipbuilding during Tudor times.

2 THE ANCHOR AND SEA motif represents the strong maritime traditions in the Royal Borough. This combination of elements is unique to Greenwich and is required to make the crest distinctive.

3 THE ARMOURIAL HELMET is the centrepiece of the crest (the crest is the part of the coat of arms above the shield). Special dispensation has been given to use a forward-facing helmet - this is usually reserved for the royal household.

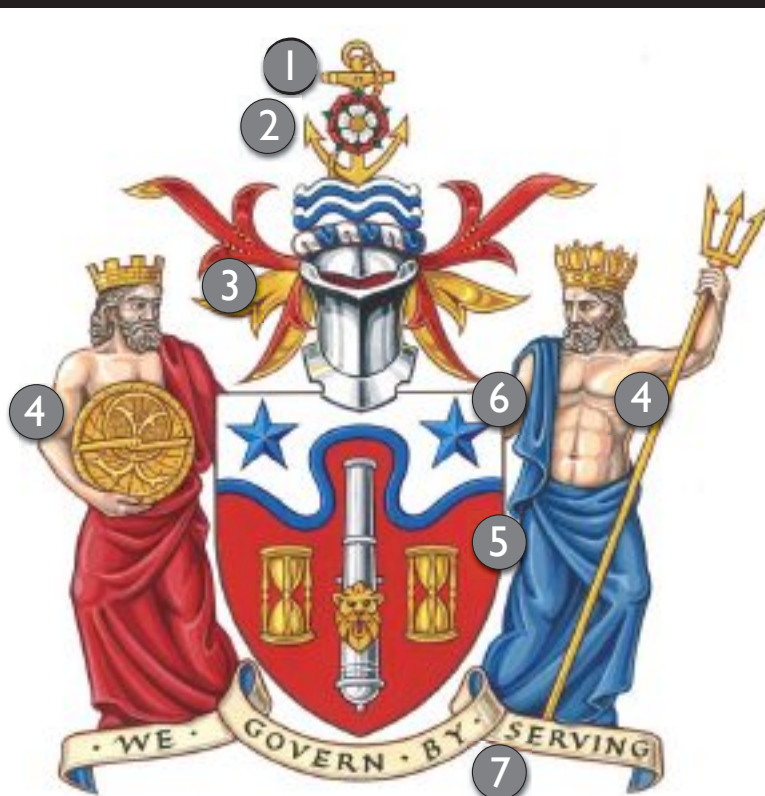

4 THE SUPPORTERS - we are granted the right to use supporters as part of becoming royal. They represent two Roman gods - Jupiter, God of the Sky and Thunder, and Neptune, the God of Water and the Sea. Jupiter is shown carrying an Astrolab while Neptune is carrying the more familiar Trident. The two gods are associated with the Royal Borough through its unique associations with astronomy and maritime history. Each supporter wears a Crown - Jupiter, the Crown of an Army General; Neptune, an Admiral's crown. These represent the Royal Borough's proud association with both the Army and Royal Navy.

5 THE SHIELD retains a number of elements of the current borough shield - the division of colour with red at the bottom and white at the top; the use of the cannon, hourglass and star motifs. Additionally it adds a new element - a symbolic representation of the Thames in the form of the dividing line between the upper and lower parts. This is a rare concession in heraldry granted personally by The Garter King of Arms and unique to the Royal Borough.

6 THE STARS represent astronomy, the hourglass the unique status of Greenwich as the home of time and the Royal Cannon, the Royal Arsenal.

7 THE MOTTO - the space given to the motto is larger and is seen to provide a base and support to the coat of arms as a whole. The current motto remains unchanged.

So little joy down the cycle lanes

RE the star letter in GT (November 29) about cycle paths being in bad shape. What about the stretch of Bexley Road between Lemonwell Drive and Avery Hill? The cycle lanes are full of parked cars, despite no parking notices. Driving is difficult, let alone cycling.

H Barnett, Eltham

● THERE have been a number of complaints about the parking in Bexley Road and we recently introduced some sections of double yellow lines around the islands in Bexley Road to prevent vehicles from being parked too close to the islands and thereby alleviate the obstructive parking.

Although this has been successful to a degree there are still some issues and we are therefore proposing to introduce further restrictions in Bexley Road, similar to those in Riefield Road, operating Monday to Friday, 10am to 12 noon. These will extend from the borough boundary to Eltham High Street and should deter much of the all-day parking minimising any congestion and keeping the cycle lanes largely clear. Ed

Foul response to new building

I WOULD like to raise the issue of littering and dog fouling around the newly-built Thomas Tallis school entrance.

Before the school was rebuilt I would regularly see Cleansweep teams tidying up the area, but now they don't seem to come round any more. People are also throwing food wrappings and other waste on the ground and no-one is cleaning it up. There are no signs in the area to tell people to keep the area clean, it's as if dog owners are too embarrassed to clean up after their pets and it is a hazard for the children coming out of school. The council should put CCTV cameras and notices up so that offenders can be caught and punished.

Sandra, Kidbrooke Park Road

● THANK you for sharing your concerns about this area. Sorry to hear that standards seem to have declined. Kidbrooke Park Road is scheduled to be swept on a Tuesday, and dog fouling is removed as part of this process. We will ensure that a supervisor carries out some spot checks to ensure that the work is done properly. If there is a major build-up of litter or dog fouling between the weekly sweeps, please call the Contact Centre on 020

8921 4661. We will endeavour to deal with significant build-up on a responsive basis. Arrangements have also been made for dog stencils to be applied on the pavements around the school area and for some patrols to be carried out by our enforcement team to remind local dog owners of their responsibilities and issue fixed penalty notices for incidents of non-compliance.

Aladdin heaven

● I'D just like to say how much we enjoyed Aladdin which ended its run at Greenwich Theatre on Sunday. It's just the right side of intimate for a good night out. I thought it was well written with enough in there for the parents, but most importantly enough activity for the children. We can't stop singing "I Love Noodles"! Rachel Shaw, Lee

Welcome to the ROYAL Museums Greenwich!

Accolade for museums to mark Diamond Jubilee and Royal Borough year

OBSERVATORY CREST: the Observatory is now one of the three Royal Museums in Greenwich along with the Queen's House, and National Maritime Museum (bottom)

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE National Maritime Museum, Greenwich Observatory and the Queen's House have been designated as 'Royal Museums' as part of the celebrations to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

It comes at the start of a year which sees Greenwich become a Royal Borough - and a major new exhibition to celebrate the jubilee runs at the maritime museum from April 27 to September 9. Royal River: Power, Pageantry and the Thames, brings together hundreds of historic objects that illustrate the enduring relationship between the Thames and Britain's royal families. They include some which are being loaned by the Queen from the Royal Collection.

Lord Sterling, chairman of the National Maritime Museum, said: "2012 will be a remarkable year. In addition to the momentous occasion of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, Greenwich will become London's new Royal Borough and a major venue for the 2012 Games. Royal River will be the first major exhibition in the museum's new Sammy Ofer Wing in 2012."

He added: "This year also marks the 75th anniversary of the opening of the National Maritime Museum. On 27 April 1937 the 11-year-old Princess Elizabeth attended the opening ceremony as a birthday treat, beginning an enduring royal association with the museum.

"This association has continued with His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh who over 63 years, first as a trustee and from 2000 as patron, has given the museum the great benefit of his constant and extraordinarily active support."

• The exhibition will run until September 9.

CHOOSE WELL THIS WINTER

Now winter is here and the pressure on the NHS increases, so it is even more important that Greenwich residents choose the right place to go when they are ill.

The Greenwich Choose Well campaign aims to point you in the right direction to get the help you need for your healthcare needs.

Please only use A&E services when you have a serious injury or life threatening emergency.

Dr Hany Wahba, local GP and Chair of Greenwich Clinical Commissioning Committee said "Hospital services are busier than normal in winter and it is therefore of paramount importance that residents know how and where to seek medical advice and care that is most suitable to their needs. This is not necessarily at the hospital as there are other services available".

For self care at home you can visit www.nhs.uk and for any help or advice you can always call NHS Direct on 0845 4647.

"Your local pharmacist can provide lots of advice on the use of medications and on repeat prescribing amongst other services"

"Your own GP, who is best placed to provide you with medical care, has full access to your medical records and is more familiar with your medical history and your healthcare needs. So whenever possible when urgent medical care is needed, your GP Practice should be your first port of call rather than attending a busy A&E department, unless of course there is an emergency or an injury that requires hospital investigations and treatment.

When your GP Practice is closed, you can still access an out of hours GP service by calling your usual GP Practice telephone number and listening to the information on the answer phone about how to access this service.

OLYMPIC LEGACIES: GT'S WEEKLY LONDON GAMES FEATURE

LEGACY

It's just the job for 2012

THIS year's Olympics and Paralympics are opening up a whole new world of opportunity for Greenwich people who are looking for a new job.

Greenwich Local Labour and Business (GLLaB), the borough's employment and training service in Calderwood Street, Woolwich, is working closely with Games organisers LOCOG to help unemployed people get back into work, or to make a career change.

It's one of the many spin-off benefits for local people and businesses as a result of the equestrian, modern pentathlon, shooting and archery events that are taking place in the borough.

GT has been speaking to people whose lives have been turned around as a result of the Games.

Dino Samura, from Conduit Road, Woolwich, had been out of work for two months when he registered with GLLaB in March. At 53 he had 15 years experience in office work, and five years' experience working in security. Apart from his first language, English, he also speaks Creole and French.

"I found being made redundant and being out of work at my age a worrying prospect, despite having many years of valuable work experience behind me," said Dino. "I wrote 60 applications for office work, and most people didn't bother to reply. It was so depressing. GLLaB helped me with my CV writing with a one-day course, which increased my employability."

Dino began a month-long course at Ravensbourne College in 'Setting Yourself Up as a Digital Freelancer'. He also expressed an interest in working at the Olympic and Paralympic Games, and was advised to go on to an accredited six-week 'Cleaning Principles' course at Westminster Kingsway College.

Several support services contractors who have won Olympic contracts have expressed a preference for candidates with accredited training, and Dino was advised by GLLaB that undertaking such training would greatly improve his chances of finding work.

WITH the 2012 Games just months away, GT takes a look at how the Olympics will benefit local people. It's the first of a regular feature, and this week it's all about the employment opportunities that are coming to the borough. DICK TOWNSEND-SMITH reports...

When 2012 opportunities began to go live last summer, GLLaB started holding regular open days and application sessions. Dino attended several of these, and uploaded his CV to the London 2012 website at GLLaB's 2012 Transport and Logistics event.

It didn't take him long to find work. Arena Leisure employed him in a catering role at their pre-Games sporting events and he did a catering job for a month at Windsor Racecourse. Arena have made it clear that workers who prove themselves at this stage will be retained for next summer's events in Greenwich Park, for which Arena has won the catering contract.

"Regardless of what you do I believe GLLaB will help you. They do something for you which is unique. Without them I would not have had a job, and I encourage other people to go to GLLaB if they need help," Dino said.

Shooting site team's toys for nursery kids

KIND-HEARTED site workers at the London 2012 Shooting Venue have donated a hoard of wooden toys to local children.

The main contractor on the Royal Artillery Barracks, John Sisk and Sons, delivered the tables, dolls houses, tricycles and drawing boards to Willow Tree Nursery in Academy Road, Woolwich.

The toys were produced by apprentices at the company's joinery workshop in Dublin as part of an annual charity giveaway. A garden shed was also given to the nursery in collaboration with Sisk's subcontractor, Doug Phillips. Sisk also presented a cheque for £1,000 to the Heritage for London Trust to go towards the restoration of St George's Chapel at the barracks.

Log on school meals register

PARENTS who register for free school meals will be helping to win more money for their child's school. Schools get an extra £600 funding from the government for every child registered for free school meals, which means the school has extra money to spend on other things. The national count of children on free school meals takes place on January 19 so parents are urged to register as soon as possible. Children can get free school meals if their parents receive certain benefits including Income Support, income-based Jobseeker's Allowance, income-related Employment and Support Allowance, Pension Credit, or Child Tax Credit (CTC) only and your annual income is £16,190 or less. If you are in receipt of Working Tax Credit, you will not be eligible for free school meals. To find out if you qualify, contact your child's school, Greenwich Council's Pupil Benefits team on 020 8921 5551 or visit www.greenwich.gov.uk/freeschoolmeals

Choose well NHS campaign

HEALTHCARE managers have launched a new campaign to help people choose the right place to get NHS treatment this winter. Almost £6million a year is spent treating people in A&E with minor ailments when they could be treated elsewhere. The campaign uses a colour code system to illustrate the range of services available and advises people how to choose the right place to get NHS treatment when they are ill. Posters, leaflets and other advertising are appearing across the borough listing alternative sources of treatment. These include:

- * Self care at home, visit www.nhs.uk or call NHS Direct on 0845 4647.
- * local pharmacists who can provide advice on the use of medications and on repeat prescribing
- * Your GP

"With the weather turning cold it's even more important to choose well as all NHS services are under extra pressure," said Dr Hany Wahba, Chair of Greenwich Clinical Commissioning Committee.

First step to justice

Moving tributes to Stephen's parents

by Dick Townsend-Smith

CIVIC leaders have paid tribute to Doreen and Neville Lawrence, who saw two of their son Stephen's killers jailed last week.

The couple have campaigned tirelessly for justice after Stephen was stabbed to death in a racist attack at a bus stop in Eltham more than 18 years ago.

In 1998 the Stephen Lawrence Charitable Trust was launched to support young people from disadvantaged backgrounds get into architecture and urban design - Stephen's chosen career.

Greenwich Council leader Chris Roberts said: "It is a source of great relief that the process of justice for the family of Stephen Lawrence has finally begun. The guilty verdicts handed out are a tribute to Doreen and Neville's endurance in their search for justice for their son. Their determination and dignity has been clear for all to see throughout the last 18 years."

He added: "The details of Stephen's murder left me, like many others, shocked and horrified. The fact that a young man who had everything to live for could have his life taken away so suddenly and violently is still shocking today."

"This is just the first step towards ensuring that all of those responsible are brought to justice. I hope the police will continue with their investigations to ensure everyone involved in this despicable act is held to account."

His words were echoed by Clive Efford, the MP for Eltham. He told GT: "The Lawrence family have conducted themselves with a great deal of dignity and it's due to that determination that we are here today."

"There is some closure for my community. It has been a cloud over Eltham, which was tainted as being somewhere which was more racist than other areas, which is something I have never accepted."

Gary Dobson and David Norris were found guilty of murder by an Old Bailey jury last week.

Dobson will serve a minimum of 15 years and two months, and Norris a minimum of 14 years and three months. Detectives said new information about the case had come in within 24 hours of the verdicts being returned, and this was being evaluated. Metropolitan Police Commissioner Bernard Hogan-Howe said at a press conference: "The other people involved in the murder of Stephen Lawrence should not rest easily in their beds."

"We are still investigating this case and I would just like to take this opportunity, if anybody out there has any more information or any evidence, even after all this time, please tell us then we'll do the rest." Passing sentence, the judge, Mr Justice Treacy, described the crime as a "murder which scarred the conscience of the nation".

2012 traffic and parking

DROP-IN sessions are being held for local people to find out more about the planned parking and traffic arrangements around the Royal Artillery Barracks during this year's Olympic and Paralympic Games.

They are being hosted by Games organisers LOCOG in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, between noon and 6.30pm next Friday, January 20, and between 10am and 4pm on Saturday, January 21. Information will be on display and London 2012 and Transport for London staff will be on hand to answer questions about the plans.

Woolwich Common and the barracks will be used for shooting and archery events during the 2012 Olympics and Paralympics. The Olympic Delivery Authority (ODA), the organisation responsible for building the venues for the Games, has been creating temporary shooting ranges and seating stands ready for test events in the Spring. These are designed to allow LOCOG to test key aspects of the sites, including scoring equipment, technology, logistics and operating plans, ahead of the 2012 Games.

Also being installed from this month are temporary facilities such as tents, fences and cabins which will be needed for operations and security. Work will be carried out during weekdays between 7am and 6pm to keep noise and disruption to a minimum.

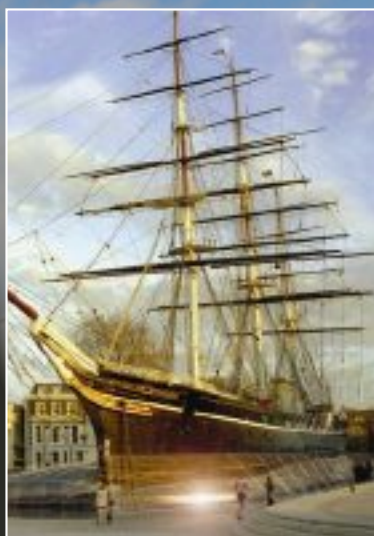

The test events will be the ISSF World Cup for shooting between April 16 and 28, and the London Paralympic Archery International 2012 between May 4 and 6. Ha Ha Road will be closed on February 12 and 13 so a temporary cable bridge can be installed to connect the common to the barracks.

Officers from the ODA, TfL and the council will be on hand to field questions. Business owners and residents are encouraged to attend for info on how they may be affected.

Cutty Sark rebuild nears completion

Up she rises

LOOKING SHIP-SHAPE: the tea clipper has had her masts replaced, and inset, an artist's impression of how she'll look when finished

A NEW milestone has been reached in the restoration of Greenwich's Grand Old Lady of the sea, the world-famous tea clipper Cutty Sark.

Three new masts were fitted and raised just before Christmas to replace those lost when a devastating fire gutted the vessel in 2007.

Wooden planks from its hull are also now being restored.

Richard Doughty, chief executive of the Cutty Sark Trust, said there was now a real sense that the Cutty Sark was back home now that the masts were back.

Restoration work in 2011 involved lifting the vessel nearly 12 feet above the bottom of her dry berth in Greenwich. It meant visitors were able to take a close-up look at the innovative hull that made her one of the fastest tea clippers as she brought back tea from China in the late 19th century.

An interactive museum is being built in the space under the three-masted ship, where visitors will be able to find out more about her history.

The Cutty Sark is due to re-open to visitors in the spring.

Borough BRIEFS

Bus service changes for Games Time

BUS services will be shuffled to cope with the expected increase in passengers during the London 2012 Games.

Transport for London has published proposals for temporary changes to bus routes during the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Around 85 of the capital's 700 bus routes will be changed in some way, particularly those around the Games venues.

The changes have been designed to keep disruption for the travelling public to a minimum. The proposals include changing the frequency of some services, replacing single deck buses with double deckers and diverting bus to other terminals. Some bus stops will be moved or temporarily suspended.

The proposals are available for the public to view and TfL is discussing them with London councils. Information about the changes have also been sent to community and transport groups across London.

The changes will be finalised by April.

Bravery that showed 'the Met at its best'

Officers commended after summer disorder

GREENWICH Police officers have been commended for their professionalism, leadership and courage during the disorder in August.

A hundred and eight officers were presented with a commendation certificate at a ceremony at Charlton House last month.

They were commended for their professionalism during one of the hardest weeks for policing which saw widespread vandalism, violence, arsons and burglary in Charlton and Woolwich.

Many officers from Greenwich were also posted to other areas, including Tottenham and Clapham, to assist their colleagues.

The wave of violence reached its peak in Woolwich around 8pm on August 8.

Officers were attacked with bricks, metal poles and street furniture. Some of them received serious injuries and many remained on the front line while their police cars were being burnt and buildings set on fire.

PCs also faced challenges in Eltham High Street where large groups congregated on the night of August 9, claiming they were protecting their local area, but instead they brought further disorder.

Officers also had to protect the fire brigade as many were attacked by a violent mob while trying to put out fires.

Greenwich Commander Richard Wood said: "It is a pleasure to be able to commend the men and women who faced unprecedented violence in August. They are the people who worked hard to protect Londoners and restore order in our communities.

"I am very proud of the work they did, the courage they displayed and the professionalism they showed throughout those difficult summer nights. This is the Met at its best."

Hundreds of people have been arrested in Greenwich following the disorder. A dedicated team of detectives has ensured that many are already behind bars.

A 22-year-old received the lengthiest sentence to date of five years and four months after he threw bricks at officers in Beresford Square and committed six burglaries and one attempted burglary.

A 16-year-old has also recently been sentenced for setting the Great Harry Pub in Wellington Street, Woolwich, on fire. He is serving a four-year sentence.

PROFESSIONALS: One of the teams commended was the Shooters Hill Safer Neighbourhoods team PCSO Kevin Denney, PCSO Adam Kearns, PS Barry Edge, PCSO Russell Chapple, PC Richie Sale, PC Fiona Genovese and PCSO Giles Balestrini

Ruth receives top Guiding award

ELTHAM Guide leader Ruth Weir has joined a handful of young women locally to receive the Queen's Guide Award, the highest award in guiding.

Ruth's efforts began by developing a personal skill (Level 1 sign language) and taking part in an outdoor challenge, cycling 170 miles across the country. Next was a community action project which involved gaining a greater depth of knowledge about people with disabilities, incorporating a camp with a mix of disabled youngsters and able-bodied carers.

She then had to complete two residential experiences, one on the catering team for a region camp of 1,400 people and the other a Baden Powell weekend introducing Guides to the senior section.

Ruth has been running the Inferno Rangers for girls (age 14-plus) for the last three years alongside her work towards the Queen's Guide Award. She was presented with her medal by the county commissioner Pauline Mason, joined by mentor Becky Day.

FIVE-MILE FORAY: the Charlton staff set off on their fundraising walk

Shop staff step it up for big gift giveaway

STAFF at a Charlton fashion store stepped up to the mark to make it a fun time for sick children over the festive season.

Around 12 workers from the Matalan store in Bugsby's Way recently walked to their neighbouring store in Lewisham for their latest charity fundraiser. The local store supports the Demelza Hospice in Eltham while the chain nationwide supports the NSPCC. Staff raised over £700 for the NSPCC during the five-mile walk from Matalan Charlton to Matalan Lewisham and back. They've also managed to fund over 300 toys for the Demelza Hospice, and this Sunday, January 15, they play Santa when they hand them out to youngsters from Demelza during a late festive party at Charlton FC. It follows an earlier gift giveaway when Matalan staff popped into the children's ward at the Queen Elizabeth hospital to present 100 toys before Christmas.

Matalan's Karl Speller said: "Our admin manager Pippa came up with the idea for the walk as we're constantly trying new ways of raising money for the two charities."

A golden age

THIS year promises to be one of the most memorable and exciting in the borough's history.

The designation of Greenwich as a Royal Borough in the year of The Queen's Diamond Jubilee will be followed in the Summer by the arrival of the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

These two major events will help place Greenwich in the world's spotlight, and I am as determined as ever to make sure that Greenwich seizes this opportunity to attract benefits for local residents that will last for generations to come.

From the very start, Greenwich's enthusiastic backing for London's bid to host the 2012 Games was based on the opportunities that it presented to build a long-lasting legacy for the borough, and for the capital as a whole.

Now that the Games are nearly upon us, we are seeing those benefits taking shape. A £4.8m investment has helped to create new sports and play facilities in parks and open spaces across the borough. And two rebuilt secondary schools, Thomas Tallis and Crown Woods, both have competition-level sports facilities that will shortly be opened up to the local community on a year-round basis.

At the Games themselves, Greenwich will be hosting a total of 34 events at our three major venues, with hundreds of thousands of visitors expected. They will be attracted both to the sporting events and to the cultural events that will light up the streets and create a host of opportunities for local people and visitors to feel a part of the greatest show on earth. Throughout the planning of these events, the council has retained a strong commitment to involving local people and to ensuring that the events create a long-term legacy for the borough.

Ever since the 2008 Beijing Games, Greenwich has worked hard to promote itself as a destination for business investment, and we can see the fruits of this work through the digital and cultural businesses that are now being attracted to the borough, especially to Greenwich Peninsula.

On top of this, we have the honour bestowed on us by Her Majesty of becoming the Royal Borough of Greenwich. And while this honour does not in itself confer any specific privileges, it is a status that will enable us to market the borough as a destination for businesses and visitors from across the globe.

Along with the celebrations in June of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, the borough will also see further milestones such as the reopening of the Cutty Sark and the 75th Anniversary of the National Maritime Museum – all taking place in 2012.

It promises to be an unforgettable year – and one which we will build on in order to elevate our borough ever further. With that – I wish you all a very Happy New Year – and what an exciting one it should be for us all here in Royal Greenwich!

Leader of Greenwich Council,
councillor Chris Roberts

Celebrations to mark shaping up

2012: what YOU say!

Steve Nelson, (left) Principal Director of the South East London Chamber of Commerce who lives near Eltham, said: "It's the start of a new year, and I've never been so excited. We've got so much going on it's just non-stop excitement from now until September. There's something happening every week, and we are all so lucky to be living here at this time.

"For us in business, the legacy of the Olympics will be all about tourism. Once people see the fantastic views from Greenwich Park, and view the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich, tourism will grow and grow, and that can only be good for the borough."

Dr Tariq Abbasi MBE, (above), the Director of the Greenwich Islamic Centre in Plumstead Road said: "Speaking on behalf of the Islamic Centre, I would like to say how pleased and joyful we are that the Queen has bestowed this honour on the borough. We are thrilled and honoured that we will be known as a Royal Borough, and hopefully this will enhance the borough's economy, which will benefit all of its communities."

Father Michael Scanlon, (below) of St Peter's Church, Woolwich, who is also Dean of Greenwich, said: "2012 is the beginning of a new golden age for our borough. Becoming a Royal Borough in an Olympic year is the cherry on the cake. We look forward to welcoming athletes, their families and friends from all over the world to our part of London. They are assured of a royal welcome."

Sharon told GT: "I think the Olympics and Paralympics coming to Greenwich is the most wonderful thing and a tremendous inspiration to everyone, especially young people, in the borough. It will raise the profile of our borough to even greater heights but the most exciting thing is how it will inspire."

WHAT an amazing year it's going to be! There are just 200 days to go before the greatest sporting show on earth gets underway – and images of Greenwich and Woolwich will be beamed around the world as we host key events of the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

In the meantime corks will be popping as Greenwich celebrates its new status as a Royal Borough next month, and there will be more celebrations as communities come together to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in June.

A party atmosphere looks set to sweep through the borough on Saturday, July 21 as we welcome the Olympic torch on its journey to the Olympic Park for the opening ceremony on July 27. Greenwich will be the first London borough to receive the torch, which will start its tour of the UK at Land's End on May 19. In the run up, important sporting fixtures will be held at Greenwich's Olympic and Paralympic venues as part of the London Organising Committee's (LOCOG) testing programme.

The O2, which will be known as The North Greenwich Arena during Games Time, is hosting the Visa International Gymnastics from today (January 10) until next Wednesday (January 18). The newly-built venue at the Royal Artillery Barracks which will host the Olympic shooting events and the Paralympic archery, will hold the ISSF Shooting World Cup from April 18-28 and the London Paralympic Archery International 2012 between May 3 and 6. These events will help test the field of play, results, scoring and timing systems, as well as key operational procedures and functions before the Olympic events take centre stage in July.

Greenwich Park is hosting the Olympic and Paralympic Equestrian competitions, plus the combined running and shooting event of the Modern Pentathlon. Successful events to test the venue were held last year.

THE Royal Borough of Greenwich comes into being on Friday, February 3, and celebrations are planned all over the weekend, writes Dick Townsend-Smith.

The declaration of Royal Borough status recognises the borough's royal connections dating back more than 500 years.

Official confirmation of Royal Borough status for Greenwich starts with the presentation of a letter patent, a formal document signed by the Queen, which will go on show across the borough.

The Royal College of Arms is designing a new borough crest using the existing coat of arms and new heraldic features, including the Tudor rose which are only available to boroughs with royal status.

Events planned for the weekend of February 3-5 include a civic reception with events and fireworks in Eltham and Greenwich town centres on February 4 and 5.

Meanwhile, exciting plans are in hand to mark the Royal Jubilee. A parade will take place in Greenwich town centre on June 4. Every schoolchild will be given a commemorative coin, and special music has been commissioned from Errollyn Wallen MBE, professor of composition at Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance, who's developing a piece to be performed by a community choir.

The Jubilee celebrations take place nationally on June 2-5. They include a pageant of 1,000 boats on June 3 that will reach Greenwich by 4.30pm.

An event in Cutty Sark Gardens and a mass 'big lunch' are also planned for that day. The big screen in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, will be the centre of community celebrations on June 4, with a choir of young people from Greenwich schools.

The following day, June 5, the borough will take part in the lighting of beacons across the country.

A black poplar tree, a gift from the Queen to every London borough, will be planted at Well Hall Pleasaunce, Eltham, on February 4.

The Royal Diamond Jubilee is also marked by the designation of the National Maritime Museum, the Greenwich Observatory and the Queen's House as 'Royal Museums, Greenwich'.

There will also be cultural celebrations across the borough as part of the Greenwich Festivals to celebrate the atmosphere, inspiration and excitement of the Games.

The 2012 celebrations support Greenwich Council's plans to promote 'Destination Greenwich' - to boost tourism and attract new investment to increase employment opportunities.

Bond's in 00-Heaven at Naval College

FILMING for the latest James Bond movie took place at the Old Royal Naval College last week.

SKYFALL is the 23rd film in the spy series, and is set for release in October. It's the third outing for Daniel Craig as Bond, and is the latest in a long line of blockbusters to use the Greenwich landmark.

The Iron Lady starring Meryl Streep hit cinemas last week

- parts of which were shot on location in SE10. The backdrop was also used in the BBC's serialisation of Charles Dickens' Great Expectations and the second Sherlock Holmes movie.

Mann's man got the blues

THEIR first album bombed, selling but a handful of copies. But 32 years and 20 albums later, The Blues Band are one of Britain's most enduring bands.

Paul Jones (vocals / harmonica), Tom McGuinness (lead guitarist), Gary Fletcher (bass), Dave Kelly (slide guitarist) and drummer, Rob Townsend make up an eclectically odd combination of country, jazz and blues which came to Blackheath Halls in December.

"The music industry doesn't bother us and we don't bother them", is their oft-repeated mantra. But if the genre is in question then their ability is not, all capable musicians with distinguished careers.

Jones is the best known of the bunch as lead singer in Manfred Mann. He still seeks the limelight and stands centre stage but his timing is sublime and his vocals still strong. His rendition of his own song, Suddenly I Like It, was excellent, lyrical and tender, notwithstanding his failed efforts to get the audience to join in. His manipulation of the harmonica was a masterclass, from the purity of his tone to the breadth of his range. But Blues Band the group is more than just Jones, each of the band members (unusually) taking turns at the mic. McGuinness's (also Manfred Mann) gentle tones, Kelly's forceful energy and Fletcher's rhythmic pitch all feature.

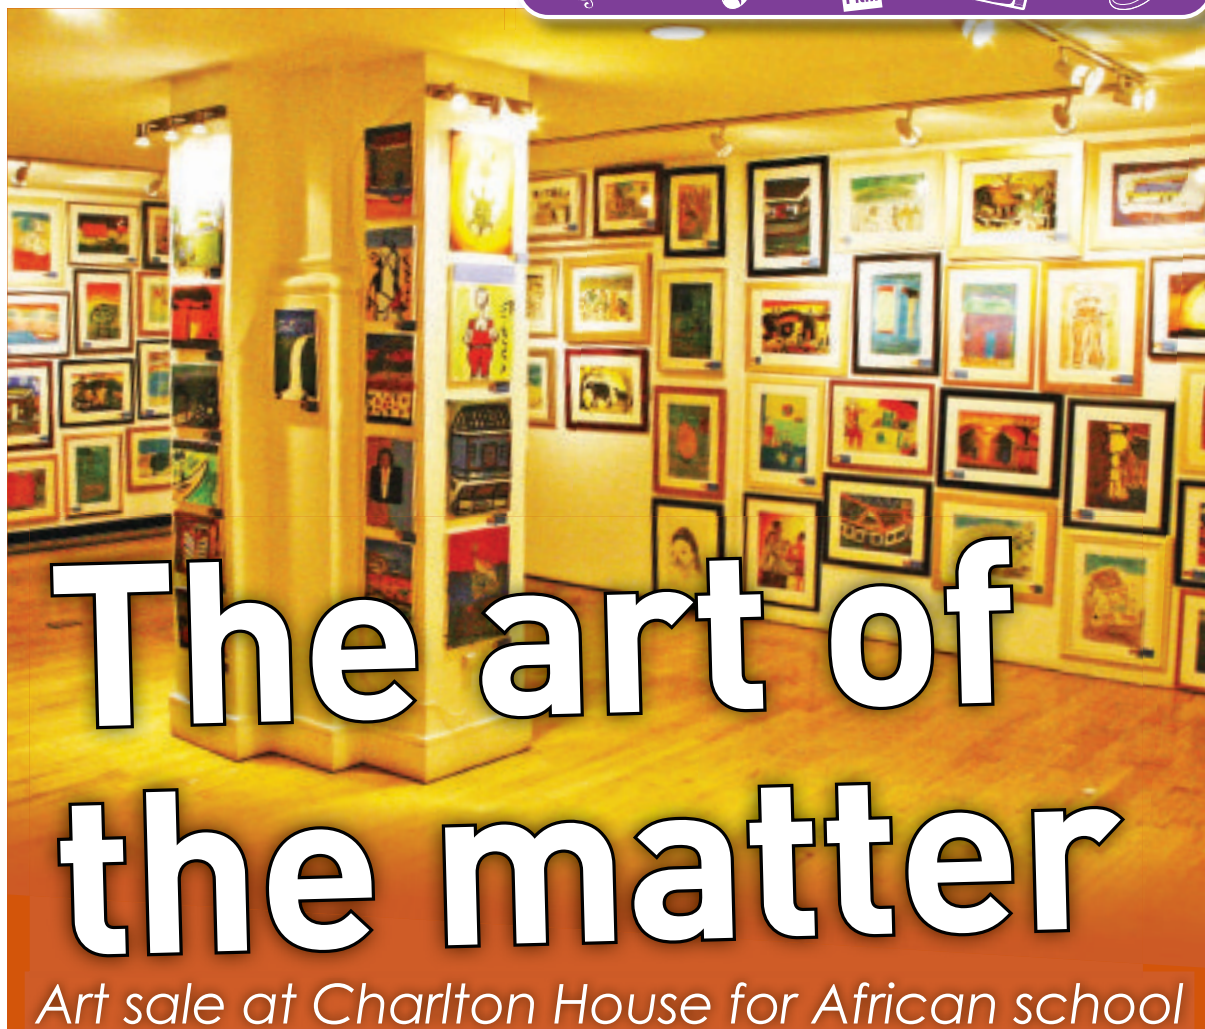

MAHON MEN: singer Jones and guitarist McGuinness

But if their vocals are accomplished their playing is even better, the key reason they have lasted so long. Townsend's rhythm at the back of the stage, Kelly's facility on the bottleneck guitar, and Fletcher's flexibility with finger and thumb.

After a banal introduction and some bland inanities (somebody should really tell them), things finally got going with a crowd-pleasing mixture of old favourites - What you Wanted, and Going Home - and more recent material - Living with the Blues, and You are True. And from their new album, A Few Short Lines. But at the end of each song, repartee - largely consisting of interminable requests to purchase the new album - reappeared, destroying what momentum the group had managed to build, an inexcusable blunder for an experienced group.

That said, most of their loyal audience appeared to enjoy what they heard, cheering and shouting before the end of the songs Blind Alfred Reed's How Can a Poor Man Stand Such Times and Live, which were the highlights of a hit-and-miss night. 6/10

Art sale at Charlton House for African school

PAINTINGS by Ugandan schoolchildren are to be sold to raise money for a new school in Africa.

A collection of works by the youngsters is on display at Charlton House from January 16, and at the private view on January 20 some will be auctioned for the charity Red Earth Education.

The free event is being laid on by Global Fusion Music and Arts, with traditional Ugandan music and dancing as well as wine and nibbles.

Red Earth Education works in a rural district of Uganda where primary school education has only been free for the last 10 years.

Many of the classes in the east African country are very large - sometimes as many as 300 pupils at a time.

Red Earth hopes to raise enough to set up a school and train four teachers.

The charity was started by two teachers from Kenya who now live in the UK.

Event and auction on Jan 20. Exhibition runs from Jan 16-Feb 27.

Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 269

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Council's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed.

Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to:

For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time.

For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

Band

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the council must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, get an application form by phoning the Access and Allocations Section on 020 8921 2941. Or pick up a form from any neighbourhood office.

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Council about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.greenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free in either your neighbourhood housing office, library or UK Online centre.

Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Council's website

Small is beautiful the Under Occupation scheme

If you are living in a Council property that is too big for you, we can help you to move to somewhere smaller. The Council will pay your removal costs, and £350 for each bedroom gained.

To join the scheme you must be willing to move to a home with two bedrooms less than you have now:

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

INITIAL DEMOLITION NOTICE: SUSPENSION OF RIGHT TO BUY IN RESPECT OF PROPERTIES AT THE FERRIER HOUSING ESTATE, KIDBROOKE, LONDON SE3Under Section 138A and Schedule 5A of the Housing Act 1985 as inserted by clause 182 of the Housing Act 2004

This Notice is given by the London Borough of Greenwich of the Town Hall, Wellington Street, London, SE18 6PW ("the Council")

Original Initial Demolition Notice

This Notice replaces the Initial Demolition Notice dated 7 January 2010 in respect of the properties as listed on the Schedule attached to this Notice ("the Relevant Properties") which ceases to be in force on 26 January 2012. The Council has applied to the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for consent to serve this further Initial Demolition Notice and consent to service of this further Notice was given by the Secretary of State on 21 December 2011 and this Notice is served under such consent.

Intention to Demolish

The Council intends to demolish the Relevant Properties.

Reason for Demolition

The Council intends to demolish the Relevant Properties to allow for the building of new homes and other facilities as part of the phased redevelopment of the Ferrier Estate.

Demolition Period

The Council intends to demolish the Relevant Properties by 25th January 2014 being no more than 2 years from the date of service of this Notice and being a reasonable period within which to carry out the proposed demolition.

Date by which the Initial Demolition Notice shall no longer have effect

This Notice will cease to be in force on 25th January 2014 unless revived or otherwise terminated under the provisions of paragraph 3 of Schedule 5A of the Housing Act 1985.

Effect of this Initial Demolition Notice

Whilst this Notice remains in force, the Council will not be under any obligation to make a freehold transfer or lease (as is mentioned in Section 138(1) of the Housing Act 1985) in respect of any claim to exercise the Right to Buy in respect of any of the Relevant Properties.

However, this Notice does not prevent:-

- (i) you from making a claim to exercise the Right to Buy;
- (ii) you from taking steps in connection with any such claim up to the point where an obligation to make a freehold transfer or lease would otherwise operate;
- (iii) the operation of section 138(1) of the Housing Act 1985 in most circumstances where this Notice ceases to be in force

If the Council subsequently serves a final demolition notice in respect of the Relevant Properties the Right to Buy will not arise in respect of those properties while that notice is in force and any existing claim will cease to be effective.

Right to Compensation

- You may have a right to compensation under section 138C of the Housing Act 1985 in respect of certain expenditure incurred by you if at the time when this Notice is served on you, you already have an existing claim to exercise the Right to Buy in respect of a dwelling house within the Relevant Properties. In such circumstances, you should serve on the Council a written notice claiming an amount of compensation within a period of three months beginning with the date when this Notice comes into force ("the Operative Date").
- Compensation will be paid in respect of expenditure reasonably incurred by you before the Operative Date in respect of legal and other fees and other professional costs and expenses payable in connection with your claim to exercise the Right to Buy
- Your claim for compensation must be accompanied by receipts or other documents showing that you have incurred the expenditure in question.
- The Operative Date is 26th January 2012.

A YOUNG women's football team that grew out of the award-winning South London Special League (SLSL) has scored a top accolade itself.

The South London Terriers, formed five seasons ago, are the London Football Association's Charter Standard Female Club of the Year.

SLSL project leader Sharon Brokenshire told GT: "I'm so proud of them. They are a wonderful bunch of young women. They started as a bunch of girls from the old Churchfields school and now train every week and play in five or six tournaments a year all over London. We've got 12 in the squad now and they've got a wonderful coach in Rhea MacKennon from Charlton Ladies."

The team's training at the Waterfront Leisure Centre in Woolwich is sponsored by the CARE partnership between Greenwich Council and Charlton Athletic.

Sharon said: "The bonding between the girls has been fantastic. They have become great friends and love each other's company."

The team plays its home games at Long Lane's ground in Dursley Road, Kidbrooke. "They got their Charter Standard two years ago and now they are the top female charter club in London, amazing! I love all these girls, it's a wonderful success story."

TERRIERS TOPS: the South London Terriers with supporters, deputy mayor David Grant and Greenwich MP Nick Raynsford

Rebecca Mullins-Ward, 21, has been involved with the SLSL since it started 12 years ago and Sharon says she's developed great leadership qualities - "She's always so calm and usually captains the team.

Rebecca, who lives in Charlton and is the youngest of six children, said: "It's important to me because new people get involved. I also love football, I'm football mad. I support two teams, Charlton and Liverpool."
